Robert Shumann, the mad genius of the Romantic Period, wrote this beautiful melody as his wedding dedication to his beloved Clara. The emperor of the piano at that time, Franz Liszt, arranged the melody as a piano solo. Personally, everytime I hear this played I feel deeply emotional and I dedicate today's performance with all my heart to my dearest Mother who first taught me the piano, and to all of you here today. Adios Nonino (Tango Rhapsody)	Souliul melody makes this a deeply movil	ng selection.

By incorporating elements of jazz, classical and extended harmonies and compositional forms, Astor Piazzolla is best remembered for his nuevo tango . This terribly sad melody was written in October of 1959 while in NY, in memory of his Father who had just recently passed away a few days earlier. It has a mysterious air, a melody that plays off a very strong rhythmic foundaton, then it changes key and finally that glorius ending with a sad resolution. It has the feeling of family love at Christmas. Love Affair	,
